

Each of us has an idea about what our 'normal' is. We may find that we have people that are similar to us or we have things in common with, and this can help us feel we belong. We will also meet people that we don't have many things in common with, and we may notice the differences. Sadly, it can be easy to make those who are different to us feel like they don't belong, because they are different. Discrimination and prejudice focus on treating people differently because there are differences.

Can you find someone in your class who ...

... supports Liverpool FC

... has blue eyes

... has long hair

... has lived in another country

... likes baked beans

... enjoys gymnastics

... likes rugby

... has two or more sisters

... has freckles

... can speak three or more languages

... has ginger hair

Try to find a different person for each box, so that no name is in more than one!

Create a dictionary definition for the word 'prejudice'.

Listening to both videos, what is the impact of prejudice and discrimination?

Each one of us has the ability to make where we live a better place. What can you do?

Is right for people to be treat others unkindly just for being seen as 'different'?

Why?

'Do for others just what you want them to do for you.'
